Dear Ms Samarasinghe,

I am writing on behalf of the Prime Minister to thank you for your recent letters, regarding the Conservative Party's 2015 Manifesto and, specifically, the important issues of human rights and the prevention of 'atrocious crimes'.

It is very good of you to have taken the time and trouble to get in touch and I will certainly feed in your comments. I know that the Prime Minister will welcome your focus on these important issues.

As you will be aware, we will be setting out our plans for the next Parliament in our Manifesto in due course. In the meantime, you can be assured of the Prime Minister's commitment to human rights and that he takes preventing acts of violence against civilians extremely seriously.

Thank you, once again, for writing to the Prime Minister. I know that he would want me to thank you for all for your efforts on these matters, which are absolutely crucial to the wellbeing and security of our society and societies worldwide.

Yours sincerely,

Abigail Green
