

staff arrangements and were
 's manipulations have no
 ectorate
 dsworth

borough).
☐ What would the cost be of dismantling such a structure?
☐ How is the suggested savings figure of £10m calculated?
☐ Would the Conservatives consider a third borough joining this partnership to increase have many further questions and views – it would be helpful to raise these issues.

 I hope there will be a vigorous debate on this important matter.

JEREMY AMBACHE

Councillor, Roehampton and Putney Heath ward

se British talents

ried out
 branch
 me peril
 slowly
 welcomed
 day in tube arrion, not
 ill visit
 ckle will ill flow

Remember those days of the Holsten Beerfest or the Chase Corporate Challenge. I certainly do.

I still have a glass stein somewhere, found underneath a bush. Happy days.

Lazy summers in glorious sunshine, watching life in a much-loved park.

DAVID W EVANS
Address supplied

itician over NHS

the NHS
 If it is a
 it's the
 we want

been told, and our health service is being handed over to private companies as a result.

Concerned local campaigners have arranged a hustings (question time-style event) on Thursday, March 25, at 7pm, at Balham Baptist Church hall, Ramsden Road.

Other election candidates have agreed to attend, but as of yet, Jane has not confirmed her attendance. The public need to hear her position regarding the selling off of our NHS, and I just hope she has got the guts to turn up and justify her actions.

COLIN CRILLY
Tooting

Helping the world's poor

I write on behalf of Putney & Roehampton United Nations Association.

We support the Government's continued undertaking of contributing 0.7 per cent of gross national product (GNP) for overseas aid (international development).

This very small percentage of our GNP makes a huge difference in raising living standards of people in the developing world.

It is well accepted too, that the aid is ultimately in our own national interest.

We are proud that Britain is one of the few countries in the world that has upheld its commitment 0.7 per cent of GNP to international aid.

We look forward to hearing all the political parties add their voice to this vital pledge.

PAULINE BRUESEKE
Putney & Roehampton
United Nations Association