Members of our growing movement believe that countries should work together to respond to global issues. They are informed activists, working with us to push our politicians to show leadership on the world stage. They help us reform the UN itself by reaching out to their own community with the international values we will need to confront global challenges in the 21st century.

As a member you'll:

- Receive UNA-UK's magazine with expert analysis and commentary on global issues
- Be invited to events throughout the year
- Get connected to your nearest local UNA group to campaign on international issues in your community
